teet, I have naturally a great many had feet to contend with, and one in particular is deserving of mention. The case to which I refer is that of a Mergan mare, eighteen years old, owned by S. Jones, a wealthy farmer of this county. This mare has had corns on her feel for the last twelve years. She kept getting worse until the was considered almost useless. My attention was called to her about the middle of February, 1368. On examining the feet I found them to be very dry and hard, resembling those of a foundered horse, with a deepseated corn in each heel of the fore pouring in aqua fortis or spirits of fuel to the fire, and in my opinion the worst thing that can be done with a horse's foot. I commenced with a vigorous paring; in fact I pared them all that I could without cutting through the quick. I then litted the shoes altogether upon the concave part of the foot, and in six or seven shorings the last vistige of corns had entirely disappeared, and she is now able to trot her nille in four minutes. "If a man has a horse with a bad corn in his foot, I find it an excellent plan to thin the heel of the shoe down on the inside, almost as thin as a kuife blade; then weld a steel cork cross ways of the shoe, way two buches from the heel. By this means you throw the bearing completely off the corn and the corn grows out with the lout, Unly keep the shoes from boaring on the corns, and shoe regularly at not too long intervals, and the corn must ${\it get well.} - {\it Michigan Farmer.}$ The Proceeds from the Hisport Mers

We know d none that flesh is heir to, and as thus rankedy is quite frequent and the subject of much carnest consideration, we give the last receipt tor its cure, which is given by that high authority, the London Lancet: "As soon as the pulsation which indicates the disease is felt put directly over the spot a fly blister about the size of your thumb nail, and let it remain for six hours, at the expiration of which time, directly under the surface of the blistor, may be seen the felon, which can be instantly taken out with the polut of a weedle of
